9.	Aims:	To immerse students in the world of the New Testament and begin the process of transforming their understanding of the Bible by demonstrating the importance of literary genre and historical context in the light of contemporary scholarship. To complement related study of Christian Scriptures and exegetical tools necessary for their interpretation at Level 4, and lay foundations for further study at Levels 5 and 6.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. identify key aspects of an academic reading of the New Testament with reference to literary genres and historical context (A1, A2, B6, B7) 2. address basic issues in New Testament scholarship and divergent/competing interpretative methods and approaches (A2, A3, B1, B2, B3) 3. consider basic exegetical, hermeneutical, theological and application issues, problems and possibilities (A1, A3, A4, B1, B2, B3) Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 4. analyse and interpret key aspects of the shape of the New Testament in with respect to literary genre, historical context and contemporary scholarship in an empathetic and reflective manner (A1, A2, A3, B1, B2, B4) 5. engage empathetically with different scholarly methods and opinions, and apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (A2, A4, B1, B2, B4, B5) 6. organise, communicate and apply their own learning effectively, use information and computer technology to access and transmit information, and engage in problem solving (A3, A4, B2, B4, B7, B8)
11.	Syllabus:	Introductions to selected New Testament books (e.g., Mark, Galatians, 1 Corinthians and Revelation) and passages in books in ways that illustrate the range of New Testament genres, recognize the importance of historical context, engage with contemporary scholarship, and address questions of exegesis, hermeneutics, theology and application. The selection of specific books and passages in books will be guided both by the expertise and research interests of module tutors and by key issues to contemporary debate in biblical studies.

12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

	(d) Other restrictions or requirements
9.	Aims:	To establish a basic overview of the key contours of Christian doctrine, and thereby deepen students' existing knowledge, by enabling them to engage with key historical texts, recognize that doctrines have developed historically and need to be understood contextually, understand the interconnections between various doctrines, and explore how and why different groups differ over particular doctrines. To complement related study of Christian thought, mission, heritage, tradition and theology, and of contemporary culture within an evangelical context at Level 4, and lay foundations for further study at Levels 5 and 6.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> recall and succinctly give an account of basic Christian doctrines (A1) represent the basic historical and contextual character of Christian doctrine (A1) explain the interconnectedness of key doctrines (A2) identify and evaluate differing doctrinal positions (A3) Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> analyse and interpret historic Christian texts (B1) give an account of basic Christian doctrines and their interconnections with respect to historical contexts and divergent understandings (B2, B3) engage empathetically with different scholarly methods and opinions, and apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (B6) organise, communicate and apply their own learning effectively, use information and computer technology to access and transmit information, and engage in problem solving (B6, B7, B8)
11.	Syllabus:

	A survey of Christian doctrine covering the full range at an introductory level, under such headings as Introduction, Creation, Sin and Evil, Redemption: God's Work, Redemption: Individual, Redemption: Corporate, Future Glory. This will provide a basic account of Christian beliefs for the benefit especially of those who come with little prior knowledge; point to the interconnections between different doctrines, such as the person and work of Christ; give, as appropriate, a very brief account of the history of doctrines — such as when a particular doctrine developed and how different groups differ over particular doctrines; illustrate each doctrine with key historical texts, especially credal statements; and show how each doctrine relates to the contemporary scene. There will also be a number of brief set texts, taken from key thinkers of the past, of which students will need to study any one.

TH4006 INTRODUCTION TO THEOLOGY

1.	Module code:	TH4006
2.	Title:	Introduction to Theology
3.	Credit points:	10
4.	FHEQ level:	4
5.	Semester:	Onsite: Semester 1 Distance: Semester 2
6.	Module leader:	Graham McFarlane
7.	Accredited by:	MDX
8.	Module restrictions:
	(a) Pre-requisite	None
	(b) Programme restrictions
	(c) Level restrictions
	(d) Other restrictions or requirements
9.	Aims:	To understand key theological elements that constitute an Evangelical Theology, and equip students with a set of theological tools necessary both to undertake the task of Evangelical Theology, and to articulate a coherent personal understanding of what constitutes an Evangelical Theological Method, namely, the priority of Scripture, the place of Tradition and how it operates, the use of Reason, the contribution of Experience, and the dual role of Community in terms of doing theology coram Deo as well as an expression of missio Dei. To complement related study of Christian thought, mission, heritage, tradition and theology, and of its significance for personal growth and spiritual self-understanding at Level 4, and lay foundations for further study at Levels 5 and 6.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. identify and explain key challenges in constructing an Evangelical Theology (A2, A3) 2. handle standard methodological resources and tools that constitute the task of Evangelical Theology (A1, A2, A3) Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 3. identify key elements to the discipline of Theology, articulate a theological method with which to engage in the task of Theology, and formulate evaluative judgements regarding their own approach to Theology (B1, B2, B3) 4. engage empathetically with different scholarly methods and opinions, and apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (B5, B6, B7)
11.	Syllabus:	Introduction to Theology will focus on aspects of theological method, specifically identifying the content, the form and the context within which the student's theology will be formed and practiced.

12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.
13.	Assessment scheme: 1. Formative assessment scheme Both onsite and distance learning students will receive ongoing formative feedback from tutors at appropriate points during the duration of the module.

TC4750 RELATIONAL THEORY 1

1.	Module code:	TC4750
2.	Title:	Relational Theory 1
3.	Credit points:	30
4.	FHEQ level:	4
5.	Semester:	Semesters 1 & 2
6.	Module leader:	Dr Christopher Steed
7.	Accredited by:	MDX
8.	Module restrictions:	none
9.	Aims:	To provide an introduction to a relational therapy that integrates Christian faith and developing theological thinking with key attitudes, values, ideas and skills from a range of therapeutic modalities built around a psychodynamic core. The module will provide an overview of theories of human growth and development, relational neurobiology and clinical issues. It seeks to facilitate the students' personal position regarding how we pay attention to unconscious processes as well as what is going on in the present. The module aims at providing insight into the relational and developmental needs of people, theorising how the value and worth of people functions as both a theological principle and psycho-social construct. We aim to enable students to understand the theoretical rationale of what counselling is and to give insight into and understanding of its ethical foundations, as they relate especially to issues of difference and equality. To provide an introduction to a relational therapy built around a psychodynamic core that integrates Christian faith and centuries of theological reflection with awareness of various therapeutic modalities such as Cognitive Behavioural Therapy, Gestalt and Person-centred work. In this way, our integrating framework seeks to equip students to work in the 'here and the now' as well as with client history.
10.	On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to:	Knowledge <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Articulate a clear rationale and philosophy that is an integrating framework for the whole programme by which students can account for their practice. 2. Make explicit sufficient theory, drawing upon relevant social science disciplines to enable students to make explicit and critically appraise the philosophical assumptions that underpin counselling and psychotherapy and its historical development 3. Describe the social systems in which we live and the ways these affect client development and counselling practice. 4. Articulate the assumptions made about the nature and development of human beings. Skills <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 5. Summarise how psychological problems develop and the implications for practice with regard to therapeutic interventions that align within our rationale and philosophy. 6. Be positioned for further work offering comparisons with other therapeutic approaches that can work with where clients are in their personal journeys and what they bring to the room.

	7. Use relevant IT and computer skills to present written material that shows analytical ability, appropriate use of primary and secondary sources, clarity of expression, citation of relevant evidence and accurate referencing.
11.	Syllabus: This module provides a comprehensive introductory study of the approach to relational therapy in dialogue with theology that has been developed by LST. The module thus lays an essential Christian theological and theoretical foundation for the whole programme by presenting a theologically rooted model of personhood, drawing upon developmental theories and attachment, and fundamental themes in theology and psychotherapy. It seeks to provide students with an understanding of issues foundational to human being, in particular Relationality, Embodied Personhood, Meaning-making and Agency.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: The fundamental strategy of the programme is to make the teaching, learning and assessment as relational as possible, aiming to engage the students with their own appropriation of the material. Interactive class sessions will be supplemented by group work and debates. The module will normally be delivered by a weekly-based timetable but may include intensive residential delivery. The assessments will address the Learning Outcomes through a variety of methods. Students will encounter clinical issues through a series of learning and reflective exercises in a therapeutic space. The learning exercises to be devised will be interactive and not just prescriptive and will promote integration within psychotherapeutic traditions and not just with theology.
13.	Assessment scheme: Formative Assessment 1,000-word essay outlining the student's knowledge, understanding and initial response to this integrative model and to human development & relationality- Pass/Defer (Learning Outcomes 1,4,7).

9.	Aims:	To introduce and exemplify relevant counselling skills, relating counselling skills and the basic themes of the framework in practice. It will provide opportunities for students to practise using both the counselling framework and relevant skills via peer triad counselling practice, while introducing and beginning to develop students' ability to be reflective practitioners, enabling them to gain insight into the practical professional aspects of counselling. This will include teaching, practice and supervision in face to face, online and telephone counselling (OPT).
10.	On completion of the module the successful student will be able to:	Knowledge <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Demonstrate critical knowledge and understanding of core counselling skills including for OPT. 2. Articulate critical knowledge and understanding of the professional dimensions of counselling both in person and online. Skills <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 3. Demonstrate competence in the use of counselling skills including for OPT. 4. Articulate foundational reflective awareness of how both they and their clients are impacted by the use of skills in the counselling process. 5. Demonstrate awareness and understanding of the BACP Ethical Framework.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy:	Since this is a practical module, it is appropriate that its core delivery should entail facilitated group work, with a special emphasis on simulated counselling situations, which give opportunity to practise the framework and its associated skills. Skills practice will include online and telephone counselling. The module will be delivered in weekly timetabled classes, but may include an intensive residential element.
13.	Assessment scheme:
	(c) Formative assessment scheme	A mid-year 15-minute practical skills assessment in a group setting, assessing the use of core skills (Learning Outcomes 3 and 4).
	(d) Summative assessment scheme

Task 1. A 30 minute observed practical skills assessment immediately followed by a written reflection. In the reflection, students will be asked to evaluate the counselling session they have just given including description of and reflection on the interpersonal dynamics of the session. Task 2. A 1 hour personal and professional development exam. This will include both free writing and multiple choice questions
Task 1: 70-minute end-of-year practical and theoretical skills assessment, including both oral and written elements (equally weighted). (Learning Outcomes 1,3,4,5)

5.	Semester:	Semesters 1 & 2
6.	Module leader:	Philippa Oliver-Dee
7.	Accredited by:	MDX
8.	Module restrictions:	none
9.	Aims:	This module aims to provide a place to explore feelings and relationships with other course members in a non-directive setting. This process enables participants to learn about individual and group dynamics in the 'here-and-now' of the group. This is a challenging but extremely rewarding experience. Through that experience the students are given the opportunity to develop self-awareness, self-reflexivity but also process their own spiritual development within a group setting where they are witnessed. Hence, the module will introduce the students to the nature of Christian spirituality from an experiential point of view and in relation to the 'others'.
10.	Learning outcomes:	On completion of this module the successful student will be able to: Knowledge <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Articulate understanding of some theories of the process of personal growth, and of the potential significance of these for relationships with others and their practice. 2. Articulate understanding of their personhood from an embodied perspective, and of their embodied spirituality. Skills <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 3. Demonstrate a self-reflective capacity to express their awareness of their own process and learning on the course, in particular of their own embodied journey and of their integration of aspects of counselling and theology.
11.		This is a practical module, which links through an experiential process the other core level 4 theory and practice modules. It addresses the ethical challenges of integrating theology and counselling, and the nature of 'spirituality' via a group process in which the individual students are provided the space to reflect their relationship with their own spirituality, personhood and the 'others'. In line with the core model the module will particularly develop reflection on issues of embodiment and meaning-making. As such the syllabus will include aspects such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Group process • What it means to be a relational being • Personal Counselling • Journaling

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Embodied spirituality Facilitating relationship with God: Practising the presence of God Working from a place of rest: Sustenance.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Given the practical nature of this module, the emphasis will be on group process, experiential learning and opportunities for self-reflection and application. Personal awareness will be further fostered through facilitated group work and discussion. In addition, students will be required to undergo a minimum of 30 sessions of personal counselling, which will need to be certified.
13.	Assessment scheme: (e) Formative assessment scheme Formative assessment of the learning outcomes will take place through lecturer observed participation in groups, and a mid-year tutorial particularly to address learning outcome 3. Weekend Part of this module includes attendance at a residential weekend. [B7, B8]
11.	Syllabus:

	Jesus Christ is the central figure in Christianity as a world religion, so it is essential to study the ancient accounts of Jesus's life and ministry preserved in the canonical Gospels as part of the source text of Christianity. The module will deal with methodological issues and key debates such as genre, hermeneutical approaches, the oral tradition, the Synoptic problem, Gospel audiences and the historical Jesus. The module will examine the characteristics of and critical issues in each canonical Gospel. The module will look at pertinent thematic and contextual issues such as character studies, culture and contextualization, women and ethics.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

9.	Aims:	To continue our study of a relational therapy that integrates Christian faith and developing theological thinking with key attitudes, values, ideas and skills from a range of therapeutic modalities built around a psychodynamic core. We aim to equip students to work in the 'here and the now' and also client history by presenting different theoretical perspectives at these two levels on a range of clinical issues. We aim at deepening student's knowledge of clinical theory and encourage an informed critique in the application of this in their development as counselling practitioners. We aim to help students appreciate and work within their client's cultural and social context and to work with clients from diverse backgrounds and experiences.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Demonstrate a sound knowledge of developmental issues and counselling theory . 2. Articulate critical thinking regarding research in relation to clinical practice 3. Demonstrate critical awareness of the therapeutic concepts that can be presented in counselling and how the theory of therapy may work with these clinical issues Skills <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 4. Articulate their own growing sense of what it looks like in practice to have a psycho-dynamic foundation while working with different approaches and models 5. Develop a coherent dialogue between theological and therapeutic perspectives in relation to a specific clinical issue focussed on the summative assessment.
11.	Syllabus:	This is a theoretical module, which is committed to the development of professional counsellors. As such it is clinical in orientation while remaining firmly embedded in Christian theology and integrating counselling theory. The module aims to help the students develop their understanding of clinical issues encountered in counselling practice: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Neurobiology & Attachment theory related to developmental processes. • Cognitive, psychological, emotional and spiritual development

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Personhood: the exercise of agency & choice. • Counselling theories as they apply both to the here and now and client history • Understanding Personality and Clinical Disorders and a critical appreciation of psychopathology, DSM V categories • a critical appreciation of working with multi-disciplinary services and the effects of common pharmaceuticals on the therapeutic process. • Addictions • Trauma • Anxiety and depression • Working with race and ethnicity, culture, socio-economic and educational backgrounds, age, physical and neurodivergence, religion, gender and sexuality. • Issues of bereavement, grief & loss; shame & guilt; anger and other subjects relevant to counselling in the community. • Key theological themes or concerns that bear on the clinical material such as the God image and a sense of worth.
12.	Learning & Teaching Strategy: Given the core theoretical nature of this module, the emphasis will be on taught interactive lectures, which allow space for the student to engage with the material and process their learning. Seminars and small groups may be used to debate and explore specific issues. While the normal delivery pattern will be in weekly timetabled sessions through both semesters, some material may be delivered in the context of a weekend or midweek residential intensive. Students will also be expected to undertake individual study consisting of free and set reading and preparation for lectures. Students are expected to develop an awareness of current writing and research and key historical perspectives. This awareness is demonstrated through assessments. Besides the reading list, students can access a wide range of reading and research through EBSCO found on the VLE. Students will encounter clinical issues through a series of learning and reflective exercises in a therapeutic space. The learning exercises to be devised will be interactive and not just prescriptive and will promote integration within psychotherapeutic traditions and not just with theology.
13.	Assessment scheme: (g) Formative assessment scheme Individual / group projects, presented in class. These focus either on the influence of culture, race, family, gender or other contextual influences upon the counselling process, or on the assessment and treatment of a particular clinical issue. Students will be expected to bring psychotherapeutic and theological perspectives into dialogue with each other in these presentations.
	(h) Summative assessment scheme  Task: a 3,000 word essay involving a critical analysis of the application of the integrated counselling framework. This needs to include a critical element which demonstrates awareness of the significance of contextual and theological factors. It is important that

students demonstrate awareness of current theoretical understanding by engaging with a range of reading and research. (All Learning Outcomes). (Note: students will not be able to write this essay on the topic chosen for the group presentation.)

9.	Aims:	At level 5, students take on placements that provide practical experience vital to their training as therapists. Alongside that, this module aims <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • to develop counselling skills, which will inform students' inclusive and relational approach to psychotherapy through the use of psychodynamic and relational theories so as to develop an integrated practice; • to increase students' self and clinical awareness by engaging with clinical concepts and how they are applied in the therapeutic practice, and evaluating their own skills development; • to support students as they begin their work with clients. • to enable them to appreciate the necessity and use of supervision. • to train students to appreciate the need for, and to keep, a professional log, using a given proforma, to keep a journal and to see the need for continued personal development as a psychotherapist.
10.	Learning outcomes:	The practical nature of this course means that it is appropriate for Knowledge and Skills learning outcomes to be merged On completion of this module, the successful student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Use and integrate psychodynamic pillars in a way that incorporates a range of therapeutic modalities using the REMA lenses so students are equipped to work both in the here and now and with client history and to go deeper. 2. Understand the need for supervision and prepare for and use it effectively. 3. Present a written analysis and conceptualisation of the psychotherapy and supervisory process in a case study 4. Critically evaluate their use of integrative skills, interventions and their own process and personal reactions in counselling in terms of rationale, execution and outcome. Including demonstrating an appreciation of the differences between working in person and online. 5. Be familiar with formulating a clinical case of their clients and given cases as an essential part of their learning outcomes and professional development as trainee counsellors. Client work: students must complete a minimum of 40 hours' client work under supervision to meet the requirements of this module. These hours will be added to their client hours logged for TC6752 (Relational Practice 3), and the student must in total achieve the minimum of 120 hours as required by LST. At least 61 of these 120 hours must be in person.

	Students are able to gather counselling hours if they wish during the summer break in readiness to start with the new academic year. They must obtain approval from the professional association. i.e. BACP.
11.	Syllabus: This is mainly a practical module, designed to enhance and increase the skills of student counsellors. The class sessions will include foci such as the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Advanced skills practice • The unconscious process • Working alliance • Transference and Counter-transference • Risk Assessment • Endings • Defences • Money • Sex and sexuality, gender identity, diversity and culture • BDSM and fetishes • Supervision in theory and practice & Note keeping • Case Formulation
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: In line with the aims and learning outcomes, the teaching in this module will be highly interactive, and will frequently make use of small groups and students' presentations. Observed Practice and Group Supervision groups will support students in their developing skills and client work.
13.	Assessment scheme: A written assessment provides a vehicle for reporting and reflecting on the use of skills by students in their client work, and for demonstrating awareness of particular interventions and their implications for clients; for showing awareness of clinical issues; and for demonstrating their awareness of, and practical response to, the dynamic interplay between supervision and the counselling process. A supervisor's report and a 'Fitness to Practice' document on their placement, and a final evaluation and feedback will measure students' competence to counsel at the end of this module, submitted as a portfolio.
	(a) Formative assessment scheme During the second semester on at least one occasion students will receive formal formative feedback from tutor and peers on their work in an Observed Practice / Group Supervision session.

2. Task: Clinical Portfolio. To include client and supervision logs, supervisor’s report and other relevant clinical documents as specified in the fieldwork handbook. The logs must be prepared in line with the requirements of the British Association for Counselling and Psychotherapy, and will demonstrate that a minimum of 40 hours / maximum of 60 of clinical practice have been achieved by the end of semester 2, and have been covered by supervision on ratio 1:6 for the duration of their studies. A simple majority of these hours must be in person. The Primary Supervisor’s report will attest that this client work has been fulfilled to an acceptable standard, in line with the criteria specified in the report proforma. Students’ supervisors will have a contract both with the student and with the training programme to provide supervision congruent with the training and with the core model. If they have any concerns about the student’s work, either at the report stage or earlier in the year, they can refer the student to the module leader or other relevant tutor. Any decision to fail this element of the assessment will be taken by the course tutors, in consultation with the supervisor.

3. Task: Fitness to practice evaluation. A global end-of-year evaluation through a case study presentation or/and interview with a panel will evaluate the student’s fitness to practice based on the QAA level-specific criteria for Counselling and Psychotherapy. This is discussed in a final tutorial interview with the module leader and with either the student’s personal tutor or the Programme Leader. This evaluation will focus on a discussion of any points of excellence or of concern arising from the student’s whole performance on the programme, in order to give the student a solid platform for progression. Any recommendation not to pass this assessment element will be accompanied by full discussion of the reasons, with an opportunity for moderation of the decision by the external examiner.

This module is graded on the marks given for the Case Study, although all assessment elements must be passed in order to pass the module. The marking scale is as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ 00-34 is considered a fail. ▪ 35-39 is considered a compensatable pass (where appropriate and after re-assessment). ▪ 40-49 is considered a third-class pass ▪ 50-59 is considered a lower second-class pass. ▪ 60-69 is considered an upper-second-class pass. ▪ 70-85 is considered a first-class pass. Because this module constitutes a fundamental measure of professional competence, it is non-compensatable, and all assessment elements must be passed for the award of the degree. NB. If a student exits the programme at the end of level 5 the student will have to have completed 100 hours of counselling practice with the appropriate amount of supervision in order that your training be recognised by BACP towards future accreditation.

9.	Aims:	To support deepening self-reflection through personal counselling and an understanding of group processes and of the student's personal impact on others; to work ethically and professionally in enabling students to engage critically and experientially with the variety of issues and themes that have been covered in different modules, whilst respecting diversity and difference; to introduce students to the concept of spiritually-attuned counselling in a group setting; to foster reflective practice on issues raised by theology and counselling practice, and to encourage students to actively develop an "inclusive" perspective and practice and to deepen and further develop their awareness of their own personhood as relational and embodied beings.
10.	Learning outcomes:	On completion of this module the successful student will be able to: Knowledge: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Demonstrate knowledge of the critical issues that affect their personhood. 2. Evaluate the usefulness of the theoretical perspectives explored in the module for counselling practice and personal growth. Skills <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 3. Demonstrate deepening awareness and understanding of their relational style and its impact on them and on others. 4. Demonstrate the ability to critically reflect on their own development as integrative practitioners, and reflect on their own embodied Christian spirituality and how they draw meaning in order to create relationships.
11.	Syllabus:

	This is a practical module, which links to the other core level 5 theory and practice modules. It is designed to enable students to engage critically in their own process of integrating theology and counselling and becoming inclusive practitioners. It also functions to deepen students' understanding of being spiritual beings within the Christian Ethos. The module is also designed to provide them the opportunity to challenge their own Christian assumptions in order to develop a new relationship with their spirituality which will facilitate them within their own journey on becoming counsellors. The module also functions to enable students to reflect critically on their sense of themselves and their relational style and impact in groups. As such the syllabus will include aspects such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Integrating theology and counselling • Embodied Spirituality • Engaging with their own agency in a group setting and how it affects the dynamics • Formation of God image • Attachment to God
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Building on the theoretical and practical experience of the equivalent level 4 module (TC4754), the emphasis will be on group process, experiential learning and opportunities for self-reflection and application. Personal awareness, and exploration of the integration of theology, counselling and spirituality will be further fostered through facilitated group work and keeping a learning journal. In addition, students will be required to undergo a minimum of 30 sessions of personal counselling, which will need to be certified.
13.	Assessment scheme: (c) Formative assessment scheme Formative assessment of learning outcomes 1,2,3,4 will take place through the group process, in response to which tutor and peer feedback will be given. Weekend Part of this module includes a residential weekend. The students should attend as it is not optional. Failure to attend the weekend will affect the student's overall attendance and they will have to repeat the weekend when it is provided again.

9.	Aims: To engage the student with autonomous learning in the production of a project of independent research to display the integration and consolidation of their learning through the programme.
10.	Learning outcomes: On completion of this module, the successful student will be able to accomplish the following: Knowledge <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Demonstrate in depth the integration, consolidation and critical extension of their learning throughout the programme, in one or more of the following areas: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> a. The content of psychotherapeutic approaches to human functioning and our own model of relational therapy b. The content of Christian Scripture and its exegetical and hermeneutical interpretation (A1, A2, A3, A4) c. Christian theology, thought, mission, heritage and tradition in an historical and a contemporary context (A1, A2, A3, A4) d. Contemporary culture and its interpretation within an evangelical context (A1- A4) e. Approaches to the understanding of personal growth and spiritual self-understanding (A1, A2, A3, A4) Skills <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 2. Demonstrate the integration, consolidation and extension of their learning on the programme in a critical, synthetic, analytical, empathetic, reflective and theologically astute manner (B1, B2, B3, B4). 3. 11.	Syllabus: Within the parameters established by the module learning outcomes, the syllabus content will be determined by students themselves. Such open and flexible syllabus content is designed to enable students to engage in autonomous and independent learning with the guidance and support of their supervisors, and thereby pursue issues of personal interest whilst demonstrating the integration, consolidation and extension of their learning on the programme.
12.	Learning and Teaching Strategy: Learning and teaching will take the form of a supervised thesis, Teaching strategies will be varied according to the subject chosen and the supervisor appointed. The learning will be student-driven, utilizing research skills, rather than the completion of a set assignment. Supervisors will give on average six hours face-to-face supervision to each student, at which they will discuss material submitted and read by them in advance. The initiative is with the student to contact their supervisor, depending on the programme of study they have planned for themselves with regard to the project. An introduction to advanced study skills will be provided for all students. A project specification will be drawn up by the student in consultation with their supervisor and will require external examiner approval. Any primary research carried out by students of London School of Theology involving participants, e.g., interviews or questionnaires, will need to be considered by the LST Research Ethics Committee and have approval before research participants can be approached. The Research Ethics Committee Policy document provides guidelines and requirements for carrying out primary research.

9.	Aims:	To enable students to deepen their understanding and use of an integrative relational approach with a psychodynamic core; to support students in their theoretical development in working with varied psychopathologies and contemporary clinical concerns; to support students in their integration and critique of psychotherapy in relation to theology; to develop students' awareness of the theoretical aspects of some of the key ethical questions involved in psychotherapy today. To provide students with opportunities to study one or two approaches or issues in depth, to support their own professional development and to encourage a research-focused mind-set.
10.	Learning Outcomes:	On completion of this module, the successful student will be able to: Knowledge <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Show deepened understanding and use of the relational integrative module we teach and its theoretical underpinning in both counselling theory and theoretical approaches relevant to the here and now of the client and client history 2. Show critical grasp of how counselling theory and Theological or Spiritual themes can be critiqued or integrated in clinical work, 3. Apply clinical concepts and ways of working with a wide range of psychopathology. Skills <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 4. Draw upon psychological research and theological scholarship in order to evaluate critically the theories and issues considered in the module. 5. Study specific contemporary clinical issues including Hysteria and Trauma, Violence and Suicide, and Religion and Spirituality so as to support student professional development and to encourage a research-focused mind-set.

11.	Syllabus: The main focus of the module will be on the relational integrative module we teach and its theoretical underpinning in both psychodynamic theory and theoretical approaches relevant to what the client brings. The main focus of the module will be on using the REMA lenses to explore the theoretical underpinning in both theology and psychotherapeutic theory to draw our work together. In these treatments the module builds upon Clinical Concepts such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Unconscious Processes in Human Development– How Unconscious processes are linked to human development theories and why psychopathology arises. • Transference and Countertransference– The centrality of the analysis of Transference and Countertransference in Psychodynamic work • In depth reflection on the therapeutic relationship • Working relationally with difference and cultural context • Interpretation – The varied aspects of the use of interpretation in clinical practice • A knowledge of cognitive focussed therapy, Gestalt and person-centred approaches that enable the therapist to offer work in the ‘here and now’ together with the unconscious mind with therapeutic effectiveness. We will complete the theoretical foundations laid in levels 4 and 5, especially in the Relational Theory modules at these levels and the REMA lenses. The module will also develop some particular foci on other psychotherapeutic modalities, issues or related themes, which will then be evaluated in relation to our approach, to Christian spirituality and mental health. Possible other focuses might be topics such as: erotic transference, spirituality in the consulting room, capacity to hold the other, intersubjective space and contemporary ethical issues in therapy or issues of psychopathology. Students will choose topics to develop for seminar presentations.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: 11 weekly sessions each in the form of a 2-period discussion seminar. The module leader will facilitate sessions on the main foci of our model of therapy and on related approaches and ethical issues, possibly using visiting subject-experts as appropriate. Some particular foci may be developed in the context of a residential weekend. Students will present seminars on topics of interest to them.
13.	Assessment scheme: (e) Formative assessment scheme Informal formative feedback will be given on seminar presentations

	(g) Pre-requisite	Passed level 5
9.	Aims:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> To deepen students' knowledge and understanding of the different types of therapeutic interventions, therapeutic formulations and relational processes. To increase students' self-awareness by experiencing such interventions and processes, and evaluating their own personal and professional development. To support students as they continue their work with clients, to advance the level of their counselling skills and to enable them to appreciate the necessity and use of supervision, including peer supervision. This will include teaching, practice and supervision in face to face, online and telephone counselling.
10.	Learning outcomes:	On completion of this module, the successful student will be able to: Knowledge <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Demonstrate a good knowledge and understanding of psychotherapeutic formulations, interventions and relational processes working both online and in person. Demonstrate a critical awareness of such interventions and processes and the implications for personal and professional development. Skills <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Demonstrate in practice the clinical implications and ethical application of these counselling skills and process issues working both online and in person. Client work: students must complete a minimum of 60 hours' client work under supervision to meet the requirements of this module. Adding these to their client hours logged for TC5752 (Relational Practice 2), they must in total achieve the minimum of 120 hours as required by LST. At least 61 of these 120 hours must be in person. Students are able to gather counselling hours if they wish during the summer break in readiness to start with the new academic year. They must obtain approval from the professional association. i.e. BACP
11.	Syllabus:

	This is a practical module designed to enable students to deepen their understanding, knowledge and the clinical application of psychotherapeutic skills and relational processes. Group Supervision will provide students with an opportunity to develop their professional communication and presentation skills, to learn to negotiate with peers, to gain support and feedback on their clinical work and to reflect on relational processes in a supervisory context. As such the syllabus (both in classes and in Group Supervision) will draw from contemporary and creative approaches to counselling and psychotherapy, with special reference to the concepts and practice of our theoretical framework. There will be reference to both online and in person work throughout this module. We will include materials such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Assessment and outcome measures (on line and in person) • Psychodynamic Formulations • Transference interventions • Containment • Embodiment and inter subjectivity including working with sameness and difference • Risk management
12.	Learning & Teaching Strategy: Given the primarily clinical nature of the module, the emphasis will be on experiential learning with class demonstrations, critical reflection and regular practice of clinical skills. As well as some didactic teaching, opportunity will be given for small group discussion, and students will be encouraged to apply personally, and experience, clinical interventions working both online and in person. Students will thus be able to reflect on the material in the context of their own clinical work and in Group Supervision. Theological input will also enable students to reflect critically on the usefulness of the material for a Christian integrative approach to counselling. Delivery will normally be through weekly group-based sessions through both semesters but may include intensives.
13.	Assessment scheme: (a) Formative assessment scheme On at least one occasion during the course of the module, students will exercise their counselling skills in a ‘goldfish bowl’ setting with the group, and their performance will be evaluated in the group by peers and trainer, with written feedback provided. This formative assessment will not be graded.
	(b) Summative assessment scheme The summative assessment of the module contains three elements: <table border="1" data-bbox="279 1798 1430 1973"> <tr> <td colspan="5" data-bbox="279 1798 1430 1899"> Task: Process Report (2500 words) of an 8-10-minute piece of client work, analysing and reflecting on their counselling process and relational skills. </td> </tr> <tr> <td data-bbox="279 1899 438 1973">Weighting</td> <td data-bbox="438 1899 726 1973">Specification e.g. word count /</td> <td data-bbox="726 1899 901 1973">LO mapped to</td> <td data-bbox="901 1899 1109 1973">Anonymously marked</td> <td data-bbox="1109 1899 1430 1973">Ethics approval required</td> </tr> </table>	Task: Process Report (2500 words) of an 8-10-minute piece of client work, analysing and reflecting on their counselling process and relational skills.					Weighting	Specification e.g. word count /	LO mapped to	Anonymously marked	Ethics approval required

Task: Clinical Portfolio. To include client and supervision logs, supervisor’s report and other relevant clinical documents as specified in the Placement fieldwork Handbook. The logs must be prepared in line with the requirements of the British Association for Counselling and Psychotherapy and will demonstrate that a minimum of 60 hours of clinical practice with adults over the age of 18 have been achieved by the end of semester 2, and have been covered by supervision on a ratio of 1:6 and of a minimum of one hour per fortnight, (i.e., two hours per month) for the duration of the academic year. In-person, online and telephone counselling hours are all acceptable, but the majority of clinical hours (ie at least 61/120) must be in-person. Supervision for these hours should be delivered in the same way: in person hours require in person supervision etc. Students’ supervisors will have a contract both with the student and with the training programme to provide supervision congruent with the training and with the core model. If they have any concerns about the student’s work, either at the report stage or earlier in the year, they can refer the student to the module leader or other relevant tutor. Any decision to fail this element of the assessment will be taken by the course tutors, in consultation with the supervisor.

Task: Fitness to practice evaluation. Global end-of-year case presentation of the student’s clinical practice based on student’s fitness to practice based on the QAA level-specific criteria for Counselling and Psychotherapy and BACP Ethical Framework, presented to a panel. This evaluation will focus on a discussion of any points of excellence or of concern arising from the student’s whole performance on the programme, in order to give the student a solid platform for graduation. Any recommendation not to pass this assessment element will be accompanied by full discussion of the reasons, with an opportunity for moderation of the decision by the external examiner.

9.	Aims:	To engender self-reflection, integration, evaluation, criticality and reflexivity through group process and the development of reflective writing skills; to enable students to work competently with the range of their own inclusive spirituality in relation to themselves and others, respecting diversity and difference; to enable students to apply their knowledge of the Christian spiritual journey into their personal spirituality and faith; to develop a critically evaluative understanding and practice of the psychotherapeutic approach within group dynamics and engage agentially with its challenges.
10.	Learning outcomes:	On completion of this module the successful student will be able to: Knowledge <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Show critical awareness of their personal and spiritual growth, and critically to evaluate the relevance of it in their psychotherapeutic practice. Skills <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 2. Demonstrate the ability clinically to apply a range of therapeutic interventions with ethical sensitivity. 3. Critically analyse their experience of their integration of theology and counselling throughout the programme and how it is manifested in the relationship with the 'others', and to evince this critical reflection within the assessment.
11.	Syllabus:	This is a practical module, which links to the other core level 6 theory and practice modules but focuses on the students' appropriation of the material for their personal growth. Within the context of LST, it is appropriate that the module should focus on issues of spirituality and spiritual growth. As such the syllabus will include aspects such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Work with spiritualities in the counselling room • Being embodied counsellors • Using their agencies to facilitate growth to self and others • Facilitating relationship with God: Working with consolation and desolation • The integration of theology and counselling The module includes Group Process (weekly through both semesters).

12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Building on the equivalent level 4 and 5 modules (TC4754 and TC5754), the emphasis will be on group process, experiential learning and opportunities for self-reflection and application. In addition, students will be required to undergo a minimum of 30 sessions of personal counselling, which will need to be certified.
13.	Assessment scheme: (c) Formative assessment scheme Formative assessment of all three learning outcomes will take place through peer and tutor evaluation of students' contribution to the group process. Weekend Part of this module is a residential weekend. The students should attend as it is not optional. Failure to attend the weekends will affect the students overall attendance and they will have to repeat the weekend when it is provided again.
