The selection of specific books will be guided both by the expertise and research interests of module tutors and by key issues of theological debate in scholarly contexts.

12. Learning and teaching strategy:

Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

13. Assessment scheme:

1. Formative assessment scheme

Both onsite and distance learning students will receive ongoing formative feedback from tutors at appropriate points during the duration of the module.

2. Summative assessment scheme

Task:
Weighting	Specification e.g., word count / duration / no. of pages	LO mapped to	Anonymously marked	Ethics approval required
100%	Essay (2000 words)	All LOs	⊠ No □Yes	⊠ No □ Yes – individual student □ Yes – group approval □ Yes – whole module

The marking scale is as follows:

- 00-34 is considered a fail.
- 35-39 is considered a compensatable pass (where appropriate and after re-assessment).

A survey of Christian doctrine covering the full range at an introductory level, under such headings as Introduction, Creation, Sin and Evil, Redemption: God's Work, Redemption: Individual, Redemption: Corporate, Future Glory. This will provide a basic account of Christian beliefs for the benefit especially of those who come with little prior knowledge; point to the interconnections between different doctrines, such as the person and work of Christ; give, as appropriate, a very brief account of the history of doctrines — such as when a particular doctrine developed and how different groups differ over particular doctrines; illustrate each doctrine with key historical texts, especially creedal statements; and show how each doctrine relates to the contemporary scene. There will also be a number of brief set texts, taken from key thinkers of the past, of which students will need to study any one.

11.	Syllabus:
	God and Creation will focus on two distinct aspects of Christian Theology: the doctrine of God and the doctrine of Creation. It will show how these two doctrines are intrinsically connected. It will locate a biblical and Trinitarian doctrine of God. It will identify a theological understanding of creation as well as identify scientific theories of creation in areas such as cosmology, evolution and ecology. With respect to God: the biblical view of God in the Old and New Testaments, understandings of God as Trinity in both Eastern and Western expressions, notions of divine transcendence and immanence, the place of mediation in our knowledge of God. With respect to Creation: the theology of the biblical story of creation, a theological response to scientific doctrines of creation, a proposal for a Christian understanding of creation and its care.
12.	Learning and	teaching strategy:
	Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

The thought of each theologian will be located in its historical, theological and biographical context, and their key contributions to the development of Christian theology presented and analysed.

12. Learning and teaching strategy:

Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

13. Assessment scheme:

1. Formative assessment scheme

Both onsite and distance learning students will receive ongoing formative feedback from tutors at appropriate points during the duration of the module.

2. Summative assessment scheme

12. Learning and teaching strategy:

Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

13. Assessment scheme:

1. Formative assessment scheme

Both onsite and distance learning students will receive ongoing formative feedback from tutors at appropriate points during the duration of the module.

2. Summative assessment scheme

Task A:

All students will undertake a half-day retreat at a place of their choosing (at their own expense and organised by them). During at least part of their retreat time, they will engage one of the spiritual practices taught in this module or another agreed in advance with the Module Leader. Students will submit a 500-word paper after their retreat (and before the due date for this assignment) detailing which spiritual practice they undertook and how their experience of this practice in the context of their retreat integrates with their own personal and spiritual formation.

Task B:

The essay requires creative engagement with the core course material. Questions will vary from year to year, but will each involve a standardised element requiring students to articulate how they have integrated learning from the topic on which they have written in the context of their own personal and spiritual formation.

11.	Syllabus:

Acquisition activities (via class and/or guided/independent study) will introduce students to topics such as: the concepts of discipleship and disciple-making in Scripture, Christian tradition and ecclesial practice; the nature of the church; spiritual gifts; power and service in community and leadership; a theology of ministry. They will also provide students with an introduction to the skills needed to integrate their classroom learning with practical ministry experience in the context of a local church setting.

Participation activities (via placement and supervision) will immerse students in a particular local church and will provide the opportunities for them to develop a contextualised understanding of Christian ministry and engage in developing their own personal and spiritual formation as part of a process of theological reflection on their experiences.

12. Learning and teaching strategy:

Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

Practical ministry placements, which will normally be carried out in a church local to school by residential students and in a church local to the student's place of residence by non-resident students, will provide the students with an integrative experiential and observational learning context in which to develop their knowledge and skills. The placement will be supervised by an appointed supervisor at the placement location, in partnership with Vocational Services, whose role it is to support students in this element of their learning. The students will set appropriate placement objectives in collaboration with their supervisor.

The marking scale is as follows:

- 00-34 is considered a fail.
- 35-39 is considered a compensatable pass (where appropriate and after re-assessment).
- 40-49 is considered a third-class pass
- 50-59 is considered a lower second-class pass.
- 60-69 is considered an upper-second-class pass.
- 70-85 is considered a first-class pass.

Students are required to complete and pass both parts of the summative assessment in order to pass the module. Task A will be assessed as pass/fail. In the event that Task A is passed on first attempt, the final module grade will be the mark given for Task B. Students who fail any part(s) of the assessment will be re-assessed only in those part(s); however in the event of re-assessment in either part, the whole module mark will be capped at 40.

Please note that modules up to a maximum of 20 credits (after re-assessment) may be compensated where a student has achieved a mark between 35 and 39 but only if a level average of 40+ has been achieved.

	Syllabus: Jesus Christ is the central figure in Christianity as a world religion, so it is essential to study the ancient accounts of Jesus's life and ministry preserved in the canonical Gospels as part of the source text of Christianity. The module will deal with methodological issues and key debates such as genre, hermeneutical approaches, the oral tradition, the Synoptic problem, Gospel audiences and the historical Jesus. The module will examine the characteristics of and critical issues in each canonical Gospel. The module will look at pertinent thematic and contextual issues such as character studies, culture and contextualization, women and ethics.
12.	Learning and	teaching strategy:
	Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

11.	Syllabus: Person and Work of Christ is divided into two categories. The first - Who is Christ? - will focus on New Testament Christologies in relation to Jesus and humanity, creation and God, and post-apostolic responses: key themes include Adam Christology, Wisdom Christology, Divine Christology, and non-orthodox positions. The second - What does Christ achieve? - will focus on a relational understanding of sin and forgiveness, the dynamics of sacrifice, key atonement theories and the judgement seat of Christ: key themes include the nature of sin, the place of forgiveness in atonement, key models of atonement, and the judgement seat of Christ.

12. Learning and teaching strategy:

Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

The essay requires creative engagement with the core course material. Questions will vary from year to year but will each involve a standardised element requiring students to articulate how they have integrated learning from the topic on which they have written in the context of their own personal and spiritual formation.

The marking scale is as follows:

- 00-34 is considered a fail.
- 35-39 is considered a compensatable pass (where appropriate and after re-assessment).
- 40-49 is considered a third-class pass
- 50-59 is considered a lower second-class pass.
- 60-69 is considered an upper-second-class pass.
- 70-85 is considered a first-class pass.

Students are required to complete and pass both parts of the summative assessment in order to pass the module. Task A will be assessed as pass/fail. In the event that Task A is passed on first attempt, the final module grade will be the mark given for Task B. Students who fail any part(s) of the assessment will be re-assessed only in those part(s); however in the event of re-assessment in either part, the whole module mark will be capped at 40.

Please note that modules up to a maximum of 20 credits (after re-assessment) may be compensated where a student has achieved a mark between 35 and 39 but only if a level average of 40+ has been achieved.

10.	Learning outcomes:
	<ul> <li>Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol> <li>demonstrate a critical understanding of Christian ministry and that expressed within a ministerial and/or vocational context (A1, A3, A4)</li> <li>articulate some key approaches to practical theological method with particular critical attention to those that are relevant to ministerial and/or vocational contexts (A1, A2, A3, A4)</li> <li>identify and deliver SMART objectives (Specific - Measurable - Achievable - Relevant - Timespecific) as outlined in the Student Placement Handbook (A1, A3, A4)</li> </ol> </li> <li>Skills</li> </ul>
	On successful completion of th	is module, the student will be able to:
	<ol> <li>reflect on their placement ministry experience and integrate their learning in the context of their own personal and spiritual formation in a critical, empathetic, reflective and theologically astute manner (B1, B2, B3)</li> <li>engage empathetically with different scholarly methods and opinions, identify different possibilities, and apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (B3, B4, B5)</li> <li>organise, communicate and apply their own learning effectively, use information and computer technology to access and communicate information, and engage creatively in problem solving (B6, B7, B8)</li> </ol>
11.	Syllabus:

Acquisition activities (via class and/or guided/independent study) will include topics such as: understanding practical theology as a discipline; a theology of ministry and work; and practical skills in pursuing vocational opportunities. They will also provide student with the opportunity to build the skills needed to integrate their classroom learning with practical ministry experience in a ministerial and/or vocational context.

Participation activities (via placement and supervision) will immerse students in a particular ministerial or vocational context and will provide the opportunity to develop a contextualised understanding of Christian ministry and engage in their own personal and spiritual formation as part of a process of theological reflection on their experiences.

12. Learning and teaching strategy:

Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

Practical ministry placements, which will normally be carried out in a ministerial or vocational context, will provide students with an integrative experiential and observational learning context in which to develop their knowledge and skills. The placement will be supervised by an appointed supervisor at the placement location, in partnership with Vocational Services, whose role it is to support students in this element of their learning. The students will set appropriate placement objectives in collaboration with their supervisor.

13. Assessment scheme:

1. Formative assessment scheme

Both onsite and distance learning students will receive ongoing formative feedback from tutors at appropriate points during the duration of the module.

2. Summative assessment scheme

One Old Testament and one New Testament text will be selected for study: for example, Exodus and Acts or Luke and Psalms. Specific themes and issues related to the module aims and learning outcomes will be studied in depth: for example, a study of Exodus and Luke may address themes such as: liberation and salvation (key dimensions of the prophetic role of leadership within the Hebrew nation, the early church and the church today), covenant and promise (the dynamics of covenant and fulfilment in biblical trajectory), and community (social, cultic and missiological dimensions). The selection of specific texts and themes will be guided both by the expertise and research interests of module tutors and by key issues of theological debate in evangelical contexts.

	Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). In general, textbook and workbook (where relevant), along with other materials, provide basic content and in-class sessions will focus on the application of the content to Greek sentences and texts. Thus, emphasis is laid on self-help study techniques. Encouragement is given to use relevant computer and Internet resources. Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE. Normally, a core textbook will be selected, and module delivery will be attuned to its order and progress.

9.	Aims: To reflect theologically on the nature of worship and its historic and contemporary expressions, develop skills in the application of theology to contemporary practice, and enable understanding the wider dimensions of worship as it interfaces with other areas of thinking and experience. To build on study of Christian theology and practice at Level 4, complement related study at Level 5, and lay foundations for further study at Level 6.
10.	Learning outcomes:
	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to:
	<ol> <li>critically describe a Christian understanding of worship and explain its theological foundations (A1, A2)</li> <li>elucidate the implications of a theology of worship for contemporary practice (A4)</li> <li>critically explain the relationship between liturgy, mission and cultural context (A3)</li> <li>Skills</li> <li>On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to:</li> </ol>

11.	Syllabus:
	The module begins with a study of the nature of worship, its essence and core elements, in the light both of biblical teaching, later theological reflection and the historical development of worship practice within different Christian traditions. This module draws, in part, on material covered in other modules integrating biblical studies, theological studies and worship studies.

Key primary resources are examined in some detail. The module then builds on this foundational understanding by exploring several specific worship-related topics, both theological and practical. These include topics such as: the relationship between worship and theology; the relationship between worship and mission; liturgical theology; the cultural context(s) of worship; contemporary approaches to worship (a theological critique).

12. Learning and teaching strategy:

Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

13. Assessment scheme:

1. Formative assessment scheme

Both onsite and distance learning students will receive ongoing formative feedback from tutors at appropriate points during the duration of the module.

2. Summative assessment scheme

6. organise, communicate and apply their own learning effectively, use information and computer technology to access and divulge information; and engage creatively in problem solving (B6, B7, B8)

11. Syllabus:

This module will cover issues such as: the preacher and expository preaching today; theology of preaching; choosing an approach to the text; preparing an expository message; sermon structure; inductive and narrative preaching; making a sermon memorable; the art of delivery; how to preach from different genres of Scripture (representative passages will cover genres such as historical narrative, wisdom literature, prophetic literature, gospel narrative and epistles); sermons delivered by students.

12. Learning and teaching strategy:

Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

13. Assessment scheme:

1. Formative assessment scheme

Students will receive ongoing formative feedback from tutors at appropriate points during the module. Students will be required to provide outline notes (maximum 500 words) of a sermon on a specific biblical passage they have chosen. These notes should address key elements such as: evidence of exegesis of the passage; identification of themes and ideas; points of contemporary application; sermon structure.

Students will then preach a 5–10-minute sermon, based on the formative outline they have previously submitted. In the case of onsite students, this will occur in a classroom setting with the opportunity for peer feedback; the sermon will be videoed, and onsite students will receive a copy of the recording to aid the developmental process. In the case of distance students, they will preach this sermon in a setting of their choice and will make and submit a video recording for feedback.

	A survey of two or more non-Christian world religions - such Buddhism, Hinduism, Islam, Judaism and Sikhism - focusing on their core teachings, key practices and the spiritual and religious experiences of their adherents. The selection of the specific religious traditions to be studied will be guided both by the expertise and research interests of module tutors and by key issues of contemporary apologetic, missional, ethical and theological concern in Christian communities in general and evangelical Christian communities in particular.
12.	Learning and	teaching strategy:
	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

12. Learning and teaching strategy:

Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

13. Assessment scheme:

1. Formative assessment scheme

Both onsite and distance learning students will receive ongoing formative feedback from tutors at appropriate points during the duration of the module.

11.	Syllabus:
	Besides Jesus Christ, Paul is a key figure of early Christianity. His influence on the thought and practice of the early Church, rooted in the life and teachings of Jesus, was so fundamental that he continues to be relevant for Christianity in the 21 st century. The module will be dealing with topics such as Paul's Jewish and Graeco-Roman worlds, Paul's life, ministry and writings, Paul and Jesus, Pauline ethics, Paul and culture and Pauline theology. The module will also look at select Pauline letters in depth.
12.	Learning and	teaching strategy:
	Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

	Aims: This module will focus on a range of Old Testament texts dealing with individuals and communities who fall under the general rubric of "the other". It will explore factors that contributed to varied forms and degrees of their marginalization (e.g., ethnicity, social status, gender, age, mental and/or physical disability), as well as practices that regulated, or mitigated, their status among the Israelites. To study this topic, the course will use several perspectives and methodologies: e.g., history, theology, comparative studies (e.g., ANE, Judeo-Christian), archaeology, gender criticism, and child-centred approaches.
10.	Learning outcomes:
	<ul> <li>Knowledge</li> <li>On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to:</li> <li>1. Demonstrate thorough knowledge and understanding of key biblical texts related to such concepts and values as the dignity and common humanity of all persons, social justice, care for the marginalized (A1, A2);</li> <li>2. Understand a range of legal procedures designed to protect the vulnerable among the Israelites, as well as comparable mechanisms among Israel's neighbours (A1, A2);</li> <li>3. Critically understand various theological underpinnings of the above values and practices (A1, A2).</li> </ul>
	<ul> <li>Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol> <li>Critically assess ancient and modern approaches to Biblical texts related to social justice (B1, B2);</li> <li>To identify these texts' implications and applications for the student's own life and social at large (B1, B2); <li>Use biblical texts and comparative data to reflect innovatively, responsibly, and empathetically on analogous issues and challenges in the contemporary world (B1, B2, B4).</li> </li></ol></li></ul>
11.	Syllabus:
	-	e of texts from various biblical genres (historical narrative, the related to the status and treatment of persons and

Learning and		communities broadly construed as "the other". The precise categories of the marginalized to be covered will depend on the issues and challenges in society today, as well as the expertise of the module instructor. The groups to be discussed may include women, children, elderly, foreigners, sojourners/refugees, slaves, and disabled. Additionally, the module may consider texts that portray God's own people as "the other" in foreign lands and at foreign courts (e.g., in exilic prophets, Daniel, Esther). It will also discuss the status and treatment of these groups in times of peace, war, and, where appropriate, their transformed position in the eschatological age.

11. Syllabus:

A detailed exegetical and theological analysis of the argument of the key New Testament texts of John's Gospel and the book of Romans, against the backdrop of their historical, cultural, social and religious contexts. Emphasis will be given to such issues as the texts' intertextuality, overall shape, theological themes, and contribution to biblical theology. The module will focus especially on the contribution of the exegesis and theological analysis of the text to understandings of its theological relevance, practical application and transformative potential with respect to both the contemporary Church and wider world in the context of evangelical Christian theology. Regarding Romans, the module will specifically focus on the overall rhetorical construction of the book, its internal dynamics, and its message to the first century audience Regarding the Gospel of John, the module will examine both selected texts from John's Gospel, such as John 1, 6, 11 and 20, and prominent themes, such as Christology, Soteriology, Apocalypticism/Dualism and Ethics.

12. Learning and teaching strategy:

Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

Critical, exegetical and theological study of the Greek text of selected portions of the New Testament or one New Testament document, such as 1 Peter. The critical use of Greek exegetical and linguistic tools in the exegetical task, such as lexica, grammars, concordances, will be engaged.

12. Learning and teaching strategy:

Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

13. Assessment scheme:

1. Formative assessment scheme

Both onsite and distance learning students will receive ongoing formative feedback from tutors at appropriate points during the duration of the module.
