9.	Aims:	To establish a basic overview of the key contours of Christian doctrine, and thereby deepen students' existing knowledge, by enabling them to engage with key historical texts, recognize that doctrines have developed historically and need to be understood contextually, understand the interconnections between various doctrines, and explore how and why different groups differ over particular doctrines. To complement related study of Christian thought, mission, heritage, tradition and theology, and of contemporary culture within an evangelical context at Level 4, and lay foundations for further study at Levels 5 and 6.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. recall and succinctly give an account of basic Christian doctrines (A1) 2. represent the basic historical and contextual character of Christian doctrine (A1) 3. explain the interconnectedness of key doctrines (A2) 4. identify and evaluate differing doctrinal positions (A3) Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 5. analyse and interpret historic Christian texts (B1) 6. give an account of basic Christian doctrines and their interconnections with respect to historical contexts and divergent understandings (B2, B3) 7. engage empathetically with different scholarly methods and opinions, and apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (B6) 8. organise, communicate and apply their own learning effectively, use information and computer technology to access and transmit information, and engage in problem solving (B6, B7, B8)
11.	Syllabus:

	A survey of Christian doctrine covering the full range at an introductory level, under such headings as Introduction, Creation, Sin and Evil, Redemption: God’s Work, Redemption: Individual, Redemption: Corporate, Future Glory. This will provide a basic account of Christian beliefs for the benefit especially of those who come with little prior knowledge; point to the interconnections between different doctrines, such as the person and work of Christ; give, as appropriate, a very brief account of the history of doctrines — such as when a particular doctrine developed and how different groups differ over particular doctrines; illustrate each doctrine with key historical texts, especially credal statements; and show how each doctrine relates to the contemporary scene. There will also be a number of brief set texts, taken from key thinkers of the past, of which students will need to study any one.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. 9.	Aims:	To understand key theological elements that constitute an Evangelical Theology, and equip students with a set of theological tools necessary both to undertake the task of Evangelical Theology, and to articulate a coherent personal understanding of what constitutes an Evangelical Theological Method, namely, the priority of Scripture, the place of Tradition and how it operates, the use of Reason, the contribution of Experience, and the dual role of Community in terms of doing theology coram Deo as well as an expression of missio Dei. To complement related study of Christian thought, mission, heritage, tradition and theology, and of its significance for personal growth and spiritual self-understanding at Level 4, and lay foundations for further study at Levels 5 and 6.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. identify and explain key challenges in constructing an Evangelical Theology (A2, A3) 2. handle standard methodological resources and tools that constitute the task of Evangelical Theology (A1, A2, A3) Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 3. identify key elements to the discipline of Theology, articulate a theological method with which to engage in the task of Theology, and formulate evaluative judgements regarding their own approach to Theology (B1, B2, B3) 4. engage empathetically with different scholarly methods and opinions, and apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (B5, B6, B7)
11.	Syllabus:	Introduction to Theology will focus on aspects of theological method, specifically identifying the content, the form and the context within which the student's theology will be formed and practiced.

12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

9.	Aims:	To equip students with a basic knowledge of key issues concerning the doctrines of God and creation, introduce them to questions about the relation between God and Creation, and enable them to articulate the identity of God as Trinity and a theological understanding of Creation; engage in dialogue with selected scientific theories; thereby laying exegetical, hermeneutical, theological and applied foundations that will serve as a basis for further doctrinal study at Levels 4, 5 and 6.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. identify a Christian doctrine of God as Trinity (A2) 2. articulate key elements of a Christian doctrine of Creation as the realm within which knowledge of God is derived, including relational and contingent aspects of Creation, as well as aspects of the science and theology dialogue (A1, A2) 3. identify basic connections between a doctrine of God and a doctrine of Creation, in Eastern and Western Christian traditions, and in their own theology (A1) 4. provide a basic theological response to scientific theories of and about the created order (A3, A4) Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 5. identify key elements to a biblical and Trinitarian understanding of God, articulate a theological understanding of creation and its importance for knowledge of God and humanity, and formulate evaluative judgements regarding their own doctrines of God and Creation (B1, B3) 6. engage empathetically with different scholarly methods and opinions, and apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (B1, B2, B4) 7. organise, communicate and apply their own learning effectively, use information and computer technology to access and transmit information, and engage in problem solving (B3, B7, B8)

11.	Syllabus: God and Creation will focus on two distinct aspects of Christian Theology: the doctrine of God and the doctrine of Creation. It will show how these two doctrines are intrinsically connected. It will locate a biblical and Trinitarian doctrine of God. It will identify a theological understanding of creation as well as identify scientific theories of creation in areas such as cosmology, evolution and ecology. With respect to God: the biblical view of God in the Old and New Testaments, understandings of God as Trinity in both Eastern and Western expressions, notions of divine transcendence and immanence, the place of mediation in our knowledge of God. With respect to Creation: the theology of the biblical story of creation, a theological response to scientific doctrines of creation, a proposal for a Christian understanding of creation and its care.

9.	Aims:	To introduce the knowledge, skills and spiritual gifts for Christian engagement on a practical level within the context of the local church. The module will put particular emphasis on Christian discipleship and disciple-making and will encourage students to integrate their learning through acquisition and participation with their own personal and spiritual formation as an actual or potential Christian disciple. To complement related study of theological approaches to spiritual growth and self-understanding at Level 4, and lay foundations for further study at Levels 5 and 6.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. demonstrate understanding of Christian ministry and in particular that expressed within the context of a local church (A1, A4) 2. articulate some key themes in Christian discipleship and disciple-making, particularly as these are relevant to the local church context (A1, A4) 3. identify and deliver SMART objectives (Specific - Measurable - Achievable - Relevant - Time-specific) as outlined in the Student Placement Handbook (A1, A3, A4) Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 4. reflect on their placement ministry experience and integrate their learning in the context of their own personal and spiritual formation (B1, B2) 5. engage empathetically with different scholarly methods and opinions; and apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (B3, B4) 6. organise, communicate and apply their own learning effectively; use information and computer technology to access and transmit information; and engage in problem solving (B6, B7, B8)
11.	Syllabus:

	Acquisition activities (via class and/or guided/independent study) will introduce students to topics such as: the concepts of discipleship and disciple-making in Scripture, Christian tradition and ecclesial practice; the nature of the church; spiritual gifts; power and service in community and leadership; a theology of ministry. They will also provide students with an introduction to the skills needed to integrate their classroom learning with practical ministry experience in the context of a local church setting. Participation activities (via placement and supervision) will immerse students in a particular local church and will provide the opportunities for them to develop a contextualised understanding of Christian ministry and engage in developing their own personal and spiritual formation as part of a process of theological reflection on their experiences.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE. Practical ministry placements, which will normally be carried out in a church local to school by residential students and in a church local to the student’s place of residence by non-resident students, will provide the students with an integrative experiential and observational learning context in which to develop their knowledge and skills. The placement will be supervised by an appointed supervisor at the placement location, in partnership with Vocational Services, whose role it is to support students in this element of their learning. The students will set appropriate placement objectives in collaboration with their supervisor.

9.	Aims:	To introduce the basics of the Koine Greek language in which the New Testament was written, establish knowledge of selected aspects of grammar and vocabulary, translate selected New Testament texts, and explore selected New Testament passages with reference to the original Greek and various English translations. To complement New Testament study at Level 4, and lay foundations for further study at Level 5.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> demonstrate knowledge and understanding of beginning Greek grammar, syntax and vocabulary (A1) understand the critical issues involved in translating basic New Testament Greek portions into good English (A1) Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> demonstrate beginning knowledge of Greek grammar and vocabulary, translate selected Greek texts, and compare English translations with the original Greek in a critical, empathetic, reflective and theologically astute manner (B1 B6) engage empathetically with different scholarly methods and opinions, identify different possibilities, and apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (B3, B4, B5) organise, communicate and apply their own learning effectively, use information and computer technology to access and communicate information, and engage creatively in problem solving (B6, B7, B8)
11.	Syllabus:	The main topics of study include a selection from the following indicative list: basic vocabulary; basic grammar and syntax; and translation from basic Greek to English. The selection of

	specific texts for student translation and comparison with selected English translations will be guided educational and according to language acquisition considerations. The module will also include an introduction to some of the print and computer-based resources that assist in accessing the Greek text, e.g., lexica, introductory grammars, grammatical and linguistic analyses, and concordances. The module will include translation practice of portions of the New Testament from the beginning.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE. In general, textbook and workbook (where relevant), along with other materials, provide basic content and in-class sessions will focus on the application of the content to Greek sentences and texts. Thus, emphasis is laid on self-help study techniques. Encouragement is given to use relevant computer and Internet resources.
13.	Assessment scheme: 1. Formative assessment scheme Both onsite and distance learning students will receive ongoing formative feedback from tutors at appropriate points during the duration of the module. All students will take regular formative tests. To establish language competency, students will be required to sit a formative assessment (similar in structure to the summative exams) which tests their knowledge of the Greek alphabet, the vocabulary, and the grammar covered in the first 3 units, as well as their beginning translation skills. The formative assessment needs to be passed to be able to carry on with the module. TL4001 THEOLOGY AND LIBERAL ARTS I: INTRODUCING LIBERAL ARTS EDUCATION

1.	Module code:	TL4001
2.	Title:	Theology and Liberal Arts I: Introducing Liberal Arts Education
3.	Credit points:	10
4.	FHEQ level:	4
5.	Start term:	Semester 1
6.	Module leader:	Andy Everhart
7.	Accredited by:	Middlesex University
8.	Module restrictions:
	(a) Pre-requisite	n/a
	(b) Programme restrictions	BA Theology, Cert HE Theology, Diploma HE Theology
	(c) Level restrictions	4
	(d) Other restrictions or requirements
9.	Aims:	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> To understand the goals, methods, and distinctive benefits of a liberal arts education. To identify key ways in which the liberal arts can inform and enhance theological praxis, while illuminating the role of theology among the disciplines. To develop sound knowledge of the core concepts, evaluative skills and methodological tools that are foundational for interdisciplinary theology in general, and for theological engagement with liberal arts disciplines in particular. To introduce students to a representative range of core literature in theology and liberal arts. To prepare students for future contextualisation of the skills assimilated above such that they are transferable to a range of vocations and professions.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Identify and articulate foundational principles and applications of a theological-liberal arts education, especially as it pertains to equipping Christians for engaging, serving and enriching society for the common good. [A1] Demonstrate an effective understanding of theology's place in liberal arts education. [A2] Interrelate pertinent liberal arts disciplines with theology—specifically, including philosophy, the arts, and the sciences. [A3] Assimilate leading pedagogical approaches to these various disciplines as they bear on theological reflection and action. [A3] Analyse crucial problems facing Church and society today through the lens of theologically engaged liberal arts. [A4] Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Engage with various core liberal arts disciplines in relation to their basic underlying concepts and principles, and their main methodologies and applications. [B1, B3] Evaluate and interpret significant challenges facing the Church and society today utilizing the insights and tools of a variety of theologically engaged liberal arts disciplines. [B4, B6] Identify, evaluate and apply pedagogical approaches from other liberal arts disciplines that are especially relevant to theology, and vice versa. [B5] Assimilate and apply a relevant range of independent study skills, including IT skills, interpretative reading and discussion of concepts and of qualitative and quantitative data, developing lines of argument and making sound judgements, cohering diverse sources from different disciplines within a theological framework, communicating the results of study accurately and reliably, , and demonstrating key presentational skills including citation of appropriate evidence and accurate referencing. [B7, B8].

11.	Syllabus: Liberal Arts education was historically aimed at creating the well-rounded individual who could be a good citizen and contributor to society. In this module, students begin their journey into a theologically informed Liberal Arts education aimed at forming mature, reflective adults who will be equipped to identify crucial problems facing the Church and society today, and to develop creative, interdisciplinary solutions to those problems. Students will learn about Liberal Arts approaches to education from a theological perspective and will develop foundational skills for theologically engaging a broad variety of academic disciplines. Special attention will therefore be paid to interpretative and evaluative methods developed beyond theology, as well as within it—that is, within philosophy, the arts, and the sciences. These skills will be tested in a broad spectrum of course readings that will include classic texts from the western canon, as well as a more global selection of sources that will enable students’ critical engagement with issues arising from the establishment and presentation of that canon.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will undertake a variety of learning activities aimed at developing a range of skills across diverse disciplines—skills that will facilitate their theological engagement with key ecclesial, socio-cultural and political challenges. Students may choose to study this module in person on-campus, through online distance education, or through a blended combination of each. On site learning will occur in a cohort within a timetable, and will be based around group seminars, collaborative activities, and in-class presentations designed to elicit students’ creative responses to weekly set readings. These activities will be supported by brief introductory lectures to the week’s readings and activities. In this on-site mode, the module will emphasize active shared classroom engagement from students to develop the relevant interdisciplinary skills. Online distance education will be offered through the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE), and will be self-paced within a timetabled cohort, based around online course materials, pre-recorded lectures, guided readings (including e-books, articles and other digital materials), plus online discussion forums/activities in which students will interact with one other, and with the tutor. Similarly to the On-site mode, interactive activities in response to readings will be the main focus, and the main means to developing student skills and knowledge. On-site/online and blended students will alike be expected to engage in independent study, library usage and assignments, as well as other creative, in-class/VLE activities. They will be assessed across a range of tasks and in various modes. All students will be supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

To prepare students for future contextualisation of these interdisciplinary skills such that they are transferable to a range of vocations and professions.
10.	Learning outcomes: (Knowledge and Skills sections can be merged if appropriate)	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Articulate an understanding of core underlying concepts and principles in the philosophical, artistic, and scientific disciplines, and of how they might be engaged by theology. [A1] 2. Identify, evaluate and apply relevant methods and tools of philosophy, the arts, and sciences in theological discourse. [A2, A4] 3. [B4, B6] 6. Identify and evaluate pedagogical approaches to various disciplines utilizing other relevant liberal arts disciplines, especially theology. [B5] 7. Demonstrate effective assimilation of relevant independent research skills, including IT skills, critical reading and discussion, logical argument, gathering and presentation of evidence generally and data specifically, resource-mining and consistent referencing, problem-solving, and communication of learning with cogency and confidence. [B7, B8]
11.	Syllabus:	Building upon students' initial engagement with various Liberal Arts disciplines in TL4001 ('Theology and Liberal Arts: Introducing Liberal Arts'), this module will more specifically focus students' exploration on

	core underlying concepts and principles of interdisciplinarity, and in particular on models and applications of theology as a dialogue partner with and interpretative lens for other disciplines. Students will learn generally about interdisciplinary approaches to theology, and then focus their interdisciplinary engagement across three key sections of the module. In the Philosophical Theology section, students will encounter various theological traditions of engaging philosophical resources, including classical philosophy, continental philosophy, analytic philosophy, and global philosophies. In the Theology, Imagination, and the Arts section, students will be introduced to theological engagement with literature, material art forms, and music. In the Science-engaged Theology section, students will be introduced to foundational methods and tools from natural, mind and social sciences, and to ways in which those tools can aid theological reflection and missional action. Across these sections, students will learn about the root principles, paradigms and pedagogies that distinguish each discipline, thus equipping them to read more broadly and dynamically within and between them. Students' skills of understanding, evaluation and interpretation will be tested in readings, lectures, seminars and dialogues based on contemporary work produced by and engaging with these disciplines. This will enable students not only to engage these disciplines theologically, but to appreciate how current scholarly conversation at the intersections between them can then inform and enrich their ongoing theological study, reflection and formation.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be introduced to a variety of learning activities aimed at developing key skills of interpretation, evaluation, problem-solving, evidence-gathering, presentation and exposition across philosophy, the arts, and the sciences. Acquisition and development of these skills will in turn facilitate students' theological engagement with contemporary interdisciplinary conversations. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus, through online distance education, or through a blended pattern of learning that combines elements of both. On-site learning will occur in a cohort within a timetable and will be based around lectures and in-class discussions of select readings. In this mode, emphasis will be placed on classroom engagement from students to develop relevant interdisciplinary skills. Distance education will take place through the School's Virtual Learning Environment (VLE), will be self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and will be focused on digital course materials, pre-recorded lectures, guided readings (including e-books, articles and other online materials), together with online discussion forums/activities in which students will interact with one other, and in which the tutor will develop students' skills and knowledge. On-site, Blended and Distance students alike will have opportunities for guided and independent study. Students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written assignments, as well as in other creative, in-class/VLE activities and modes of assessment. All students will be supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on LST's VLE.

9.	Aims:	To equip students with exegetical tools and skills to enable them to interpret Scriptural texts with hermeneutical awareness for Church and world and enable them to reflect critically on the status and appropriation of Scripture for today's Church and world. To build on the foundations for biblical study established at Level 4, complement other biblical study at Level 5, and prepare the ground for further study at Level 6.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> demonstrate critical knowledge and understanding of key methods of biblical interpretation and the relevant tools and reference resources necessary for this task (A1, A2) demonstrate critical knowledge and understanding of hermeneutical issues involved in appropriating biblical texts for today's Church and world (A2, A3) Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> approach issues of biblical exegesis and hermeneutics in a critical, empathetic, reflective and theologically astute manner (B1, B2) engage empathetically with different scholarly methods and opinions, identify different possibilities, and apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (B3, B4, B5) organise, communicate and apply their own learning effectively, use information and computer technology to access and communicate information, and engage creatively in problem solving (B6, B7, B8)
11.	Syllabus:	An introduction to and study of the process of exegetical analysis of Biblical texts regarding such matters as historical-cultural backgrounds, genre, contextual and linguistic analysis, intertextuality, etc. An introduction to the use of key tools and reference resources which assist in the process of exegesis (e.g., concordances, dictionaries, commentaries). Lectures will aim to illustrate exegetical skills via selected case study passages from different genres within Old and New Testaments. Key issues in modern hermeneutics, focusing on an author/text/reader approach, including discussion of the status and nature of the Bible as Christian Scripture, will be introduced. Some key fallacies and dangers in biblical exegesis and interpretation will be engaged.

9.	Aims:	To develop an understanding of what it means to be human within a dynamic matrix of relationships constituted around Christ's commands to love both God with one's entire being and one's neighbour as oneself, and explore key theological themes of God, self and neighbour in relation to cultural issues facing the contemporary church. To build on the foundations for doctrinal and theological study established at Level 4, complement similar study at Level 5, and prepare the ground for further study at Level 6.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> critically identify, key theological motifs central to a relational theology, and academic debates around them (A2, A3) engage critically with contemporary challenges relating to our understanding of God, neighbour and self, and construct a relational theological response (A2, A3) Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> demonstrate knowledge of Trinitarian theology (both East and West) and its relevance to contemporary issues, identify and critique key notions of self and neighbour in relation to a theological anthropology, and use key elements of a relational theology in order to engage with contemporary issues in a critical, empathetic, reflective and theologically astute manner (B1, B2, B3, B4) engage empathetically with different scholarly methods and opinions, identify different possibilities, and apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (B5, B6, B7)
11.	Syllabus:	Relational Theology will focus on the relevance of Trinitarian doctrine both Eastern and Western with respect to theological anthropology as it engages and critiques modalistic views

	of divine being, contemporary notions of self, and biblical and contemporary notions of neighbour, and their implications for the contemporary church.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

9.	Aims:	To develop the knowledge, skills and spiritual gifts for Christian engagement on a practical level within a ministerial and/or vocational context, deepen theological reflective skills, and encourage integration of learning through acquisition, participation and reflection with respect to personal and spiritual formation as an actual or potential Christian disciple.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> demonstrate a critical understanding of Christian ministry and that expressed within a ministerial and/or vocational context (A1, A3, A4) articulate some key approaches to practical theological method with particular critical attention to those that are relevant to ministerial and/or vocational contexts (A1, A2, A3, A4) identify and deliver SMART objectives (Specific - Measurable - Achievable - Relevant - Time-specific) as outlined in the Student Placement Handbook (A1, A3, A4) Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> reflect on their placement ministry experience and integrate their learning in the context of their own personal and spiritual formation in a critical, empathetic, reflective and theologically astute manner (B1, B2, B3) engage empathetically with different scholarly methods and opinions, identify different possibilities, and apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (B3, B4, B5) organise, communicate and apply their own learning effectively, use information and computer technology to access and communicate information, and engage creatively in problem solving (B6, B7, B8)
11.	Syllabus:

	Acquisition activities (via class and/or guided/independent study) will include topics such as: understanding practical theology as a discipline; a theology of ministry and work; and practical skills in pursuing vocational opportunities. They will also provide student with the opportunity to build the skills needed to integrate their classroom learning with practical ministry experience in a ministerial and/or vocational context. Participation activities (via placement and supervision) will immerse students in a particular ministerial or vocational context and will provide the opportunity to develop a contextualised understanding of Christian ministry and engage in their own personal and spiritual formation as part of a process of theological reflection on their experiences.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. 5.	Semester:	Onsite: Semester 1 / Semester 2 Distance: Semester 2
6.	Module leader:	Andrea Hartmann
7.	Accredited by:	MDX
8.	Module restrictions:
	(a) Pre-requisite	Level 4 completed
	(b) Programme restrictions
	(c) Level restrictions
	(d) Other restrictions or requirements
9.	Aims:	To introduce the basics of the Koine Greek language in which the New Testament was written, establish knowledge of selected aspects of grammar and vocabulary, translate selected New Testament texts, and explore selected New Testament passages with reference to the original Greek and various English translations. To build on New Testament study at Level 4, complement such study at Level 5, and lay foundations for further study at Level 6.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> demonstrate knowledge and understanding of beginning Greek grammar, syntax and vocabulary (A1) understand the critical issues involved in translating basic New Testament Greek portions into good English (A1) Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> demonstrate beginning knowledge of Greek grammar and vocabulary, translate selected Greek texts, and compare English translations with the original Greek in a critical, empathetic, reflective and theologically astute manner (B1 B6) engage empathetically with different scholarly methods and opinions, identify different possibilities, and apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (B3, B4, B5) organise, communicate and apply their own learning effectively, use information and computer technology to access and communicate information, and engage creatively in problem solving (B6, B7, B8)
11.	Syllabus:	The main topics of study include a selection from the following indicative list: basic vocabulary; basic grammar and syntax; and translation from basic Greek to English. The selection of

	specific texts for student translation and comparison with selected English translations will be guided educational and according to language acquisition considerations. The module will also include an introduction to some of the print and computer-based resources that assist in accessing the Greek text, e.g., lexica, introductory grammars, grammatical and linguistic analyses, and concordances. The module will include translation practice of portions of the New Testament from the beginning.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE. In general, textbook and workbook (where relevant), along with other materials, provide basic content and in-class sessions will focus on the application of the content to Greek sentences and texts. Thus, emphasis is laid on self-help study techniques. Encouragement is given to use relevant computer and Internet resources.
13.	Assessment scheme: 1. Formative assessment scheme Both onsite and distance learning students will receive ongoing formative feedback from tutors at appropriate points during the duration of the module. All students will take regular formative tests.

9.	Aims:	To reflect theologically on the nature of worship and its historic and contemporary expressions, develop skills in the application of theology to contemporary practice, and enable understanding the wider dimensions of worship as it interfaces with other areas of thinking and experience. To build on study of Christian theology and practice at Level 4, complement related study at Level 5, and lay foundations for further study at Level 6.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> critically describe a Christian understanding of worship and explain its theological foundations (A1, A2) elucidate the implications of a theology of worship for contemporary practice (A4) critically explain the relationship between liturgy, mission and cultural context (A3) Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> describe and explain the theology and practice of Christian worship in liturgical, missional and cultural context in an empathetic, reflective and theologically astute manner (B1, B2) engage empathetically with different scholarly methods and opinions, identify different possibilities, and apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (B3, B4, B5) organise, communicate and apply their own learning effectively, use information and computer technology to access and communicate information, and engage creatively in problem solving (B6, B7, B8)
11.	Syllabus:	The module begins with a study of the nature of worship, its essence and core elements, in the light both of biblical teaching, later theological reflection and the historical development of worship practice within different Christian traditions. This module draws, in part, on material covered in other modules integrating biblical studies, theological studies and worship studies.

	Key primary resources are examined in some detail. The module then builds on this foundational understanding by exploring several specific worship-related topics, both theological and practical. These include topics such as: the relationship between worship and theology; the relationship between worship and mission; liturgical theology; the cultural context(s) of worship; contemporary approaches to worship (a theological critique).

8.	Module restrictions:
	(a) Pre-requisite	Level 4 completed
	(b) Programme restrictions
	(c) Level restrictions
	(d) Other restrictions or requirements
9.	Aims:	This module aims to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> inspire students with the potential of and the opportunity to develop a personal expository preaching ministry. promote understanding of current issues in expository homiletics by exploring methods of sermon construction, preparation and delivery. illustrate the transition from biblical text to preached message with reference to the variety of literary genres in the Bible. enhance students' communication skills relevant to delivery of the sermon. It builds on study of Christian theology and practice at Level 4, complements related study at Level 5, and lays foundations for further study at Level 6.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> critically differentiate various approaches to expository preaching from diverse texts and to diverse audiences, and select appropriate methods for their own preaching (A1, A3, A4) critically interpret biblical texts in the context of expository preaching, recognising genre (A1) Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> analyse and interpret key aspects of expository preaching in a critical, empathetic, reflective and theologically astute manner (B1, B2, B3) compose a sermon with confidence and skill (B2, B4) engage empathetically with different scholarly methods and opinions; anticipate divergent problems, possibilities and consequences; apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (B3, B4, B5)

	6. organise, communicate and apply their own learning effectively, use information and computer technology to access and divulge information; and engage creatively in problem solving (B6, B7, B8)
11.	Syllabus: This module will cover issues such as: the preacher and expository preaching today; theology of preaching; choosing an approach to the text; preparing an expository message; sermon structure; inductive and narrative preaching; making a sermon memorable; the art of delivery; how to preach from different genres of Scripture (representative passages will cover genres such as historical narrative, wisdom literature, prophetic literature, gospel narrative and epistles); sermons delivered by students.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.
13.	Assessment scheme: 1. Formative assessment scheme Students will receive ongoing formative feedback from tutors at appropriate points during the module. Students will be required to provide outline notes (maximum 500 words) of a sermon on a specific biblical passage they have chosen. These notes should address key elements such as: evidence of exegesis of the passage; identification of themes and ideas; points of contemporary application; sermon structure. Students will then preach a 5–10-minute sermon, based on the formative outline they have previously submitted. In the case of onsite students, this will occur in a classroom setting with the opportunity for peer feedback; the sermon will be videoed, and onsite students will receive a copy of the recording to aid the developmental process. In the case of distance students, they will preach this sermon in a setting of their choice and will make and submit a video recording for feedback.

	(c) Level restrictions
	(d) Other restrictions or requirements
9.	Aims:	To enable understanding of some of the religious traditions worldwide, appreciate the diversity of religious practices, and develop an awareness of and respect for the views of others in religious spheres. To build on study of historical and contemporary cultural contexts within which the Church operates and Christian theology is practiced at Level 4, complement related study at Level 5, and lay foundations for further study at Level 6.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> critically describe and explain the core doctrines, key practices, and spiritual and religious experiences of two or more non-Christian religions (A3) compare and contrast the teachings, practices and experiences of two or more non-Christian religious traditions (A3) critically investigate and evaluate different approaches to the study of religion (A2, A3) explore Christian theological responses to and practical relationships with non-Christian religious traditions (A2, A3) Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> analyse and interpret key aspects of the teachings, practices and experiences of two or more non-Christian religions in a critical, empathetic, reflective and theologically astute manner (B1, B2, B3, B4) engage empathetically with different scholarly methods and opinions, identify different possibilities, and apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (B3, B4, B5) organise, communicate and apply their own learning effectively, use information and computer technology to access and communicate information, and engage creatively in problem solving (B6, B7, B8)
11.	Syllabus:

	A survey of two or more non-Christian world religions - such Buddhism, Hinduism, Islam, Judaism and Sikhism - focusing on their core teachings, key practices and the spiritual and religious experiences of their adherents. The selection of the specific religious traditions to be studied will be guided both by the expertise and research interests of module tutors and by key issues of contemporary apologetic, missional, ethical and theological concern in Christian communities in general and evangelical Christian communities in particular.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.
13.	Assessment scheme: 1. Formative assessment scheme Both onsite and distance learning students will receive ongoing formative feedback from tutors at appropriate points during the duration of the module.

9.	Aims:	This module will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Introduce the biblical mandate for evangelism in the life of the church. • Provide an overview of different approaches to evangelism and enable students to reflect on best approaches given the current UK context. • Give opportunity to develop the skill of being able to effectively communicate the gospel. • Explore the most effective ways to equip people within the local church to share their faith.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Critically articulate the Biblical and theological nature of evangelism [A1, A2] 2. Classify and critique potential approaches to evangelism in the local church context. Apply the knowledge gained to verbally communicate the gospel [B4, B6, B7, B8] 4. Develop a strategic plan that can be implemented to create a culture of evangelism in a local church in the UK. [B4, B6, B7, B8]
11.	Syllabus:	The Church exists to worship and glorify God for all eternity and to participate in the transforming mission of God within history. The source of all our mission is what God has done in Christ, as revealed in the Bible and our evangelistic task is to make that good news known. This module will explore how we can best meet that task in the UK. To that end, the module is focused on the task of evangelism, which it will be argued is at the centre of the scope of all mission. Therefore, the module will introduce students to topics such as: a biblical understanding of evangelism; historical and current evangelistic practices in the UK

	(c) Level restrictions
	(d) Other restrictions or requirements
9.	Aims:	To develop an understanding of the biblical and theological bases for youth ministry, together with an understanding of innovation theory and design principles. To evaluate the effectiveness of your own practice in the light of this combined understanding, and to develop the skills required to create new models and approaches to youth ministry that meet the demands of contemporary culture.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Critically engage with biblical and theological bases of present-day youth ministry. [A1, A2] 2. Identify and critically evaluate developments in youth culture and their impact on existing models of youth ministry. [A2, A3, A4] 3. Synthetically describe and critically evaluate design principles and innovation theory and their application to developing new models of youth ministry. [A3, A4] 4. Analytically engage with emerging approaches to youth ministry and reflect critically on the theological implications. [B1, B2, B3, B4] 6. Apply the knowledge gained to show how their practice might develop to better engage with young people in contemporary culture. [B2, B4, B6, B7, B8]
11.	Syllabus:	This module will introduce students to topics such as: key elements of the theological and biblical basis for youth ministry; contemporary adolescent culture and, in particular, how changes are shifting and shaping attitudes to Christian faith; and the impact of cultural change on existing models of youth ministry. The module will explore how these existing models were themselves developed over the past century in response to societal changes, and the need for those models to evolve again to become relevant to contemporary culture. The module will help students reflect on the theological basis and practice of their own youth ministry. Using the principles and tools for innovation, such as those developed in the business and technology sectors, the module will help students to construct new approaches and models that will develop the effectiveness of their work.

11.	Syllabus: Besides Jesus Christ, Paul is a key figure of early Christianity. His influence on the thought and practice of the early Church, rooted in the life and teachings of Jesus, was so fundamental that he continues to be relevant for Christianity in the 21st century. The module will be dealing with topics such as Paul’s Jewish and Graeco-Roman worlds, Paul’s life, ministry and writings, Paul and Jesus, Pauline ethics, Paul and culture and Pauline theology. The module will also look at select Pauline letters in depth.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

9.	Aims:	This module will focus on a range of Old Testament texts dealing with individuals and communities who fall under the general rubric of “the other”. It will explore factors that contributed to varied forms and degrees of their marginalization (e.g., ethnicity, social status, gender, age, mental and/or physical disability), as well as practices that regulated, or mitigated, their status among the Israelites. To study this topic, the course will use several perspectives and methodologies: e.g., history, theology, comparative studies (e.g., ANE, Judeo-Christian), archaeology, gender criticism, and child-centred approaches.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Demonstrate thorough knowledge and understanding of key biblical texts related to such concepts and values as the dignity and common humanity of all persons, social justice, care for the marginalized (A1, A2); 2. Understand a range of legal procedures designed to protect the vulnerable among the Israelites, as well as comparable mechanisms among Israel’s neighbours (A1, A2); 3. Critically understand various theological underpinnings of the above values and practices (A1, A2). Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 4. Critically assess ancient and modern approaches to Biblical texts related to social justice (B1, B2); 5. To identify these texts’ implications and applications for the student’s own life and society at large (B1, B2); 6. Use biblical texts and comparative data to reflect innovatively, responsibly, and empathetically on analogous issues and challenges in the contemporary world (B1, B2, B3, B4).
11.	Syllabus:	This module will consider a range of texts from various biblical genres (historical narrative, the law, poetry, wisdom, prophecy) related to the status and treatment of persons and

	communities broadly construed as “the other”. The precise categories of the marginalized to be covered will depend on the issues and challenges in society today, as well as the expertise of the module instructor. The groups to be discussed may include women, children, elderly, foreigners, sojourners/refugees, slaves, and disabled. Additionally, the module may consider texts that portray God’s own people as “the other” in foreign lands and at foreign courts (e.g., in exilic prophets, Daniel, Esther). It will also discuss the status and treatment of these groups in times of peace, war, and, where appropriate, their transformed position in the eschatological age.

	(c) Level restrictions
	(d) Other restrictions or requirements
9.	Aims:	To build on the knowledge and skills learned in New Testament Greek Introduction 1 + 2, to further knowledge and understanding of more advanced aspects of Greek grammar and syntax and to apply that knowledge to the translation of New Testament Greek texts. To develop competence in the comparison of English translations based on the knowledge of the vocabulary, grammar and syntax of the Greek text. To enable further facility in translating selected Greek New Testament texts and to equip students to engage critically in the exegetical, hermeneutical and theological analysis of these texts. To lay the foundations for advanced Greek grammar and syntax, as well as more detailed exegetical, hermeneutical, and theological studies in level 6 (TH6113 - New Testament Greek Advanced Texts).
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. demonstrate knowledge and understanding of more advanced Greek grammar, syntax and vocabulary (A1) 2. demonstrate more advanced understanding of the issues involved in translating selected texts of the Greek New Testament into good English (A1) 3. show an awareness of the main linguistic, text-critical, structural, historical and/or exegetical issues of selected New Testament texts (A1) 4. show knowledge and understanding of different methods used in the analysis and translation of the Greek New Testament (A2) Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 5. demonstrates the ability to apply their knowledge of more advanced Greek vocabulary, grammar, and syntax and to translate with facility portions of set New Testament Greek texts (B1, B3, B6)

	6. can competently compare English translations with the original Greek in a critical, empathetic, reflective and theologically astute manner (B1, B3, B6, B7) 7. shows skills in commenting on significant aspects of word formation, grammar, syntax and structure of the argument using lexica, handbooks on the Greek texts, and commentaries (B1, B2, B3) 8. can engage empathetically and critically with different scholarly methods and opinions in relation to the translation and interpretation of the Greek New Testament and to identify different possibilities, as well as to apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (B2, B3, B4, B5) 9. organise, communicate and apply their own learning effectively, use information and computer technology to access and communicate information, and engage creatively in problem solving (B6, B7, B8)
11.	Syllabus: The module will further students understanding of more advanced features of New Testament Greek grammar and syntax by engaging with intermediate grammars. Their knowledge of vocabulary, grammar and syntax will be applied to further both the translation from Greek into English and the comparison of English translations based on the Greek text. The module will focus on the translation of selected New Testament Greek texts from different authors and genres (e.g., portions of a gospel and a letter) and a critical engagement with the exegetical, hermeneutical and theological issues of these texts. It will advance skills in translating and analysing New Testament Greek texts using print and computer-based resources like lexica, intermediate grammars, exegetical guides, grammatical and linguistic analyses, concordances and commentaries.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. A special focus is given to the independent translation of the set texts which are then discussed in the respective discussion forums (onsite: lectures, distance: VLE forum). All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.
13.	Assessment scheme: 1. Critically and synthetically exegete a selected New Testament text in the context of the historical context of Second Temple Judaism and Greco-Roman culture (A1) 2. articulate the theology of the selected text in critical dialogue with contemporary scholarship (A1, A2) 3. identify the selected text's theological relevance, practical application and transformative potential with respect to both the contemporary Church and wider world (A1, A3) 4. critically understand the contribution of the theology of the selected text to the articulation of evangelical Christian theology (A1, A3) Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 5. interpret exegetically, analyse theologically and apply hermeneutically a selected New Testament text in a critical, synthetic, empathetic, reflective and theologically astute manner (B1, B2, B3) 6. engage empathetically with different scholarly methods and opinions, anticipate divergent problems, possibilities and consequences, apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (B3, B4, B5) 7. organise and communicate their own learning effectively in individual and group contexts, use information and computer technology to access and communicate information, and engage creatively in complex problem solving (B6, B7, B8)

11.	Syllabus: A detailed exegetical and theological analysis of the argument of a New Testament text, for example Paul’s Epistle to the Romans, against the backdrop of its historical, cultural, social and religious contexts. Particular emphasis will be given to such issues as the text’s inter-textuality, its theological themes, and contribution to biblical theology. The module will focus especially on the contribution of the exegesis and theological analysis of the text to understandings of its theological relevance, practical application and transformative potential with respect to both the contemporary Church and wider world in the context of evangelical Christian theology.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.

	(d) Other restrictions or requirements
9.	Aims:	To build on the basic Greek grammatical and syntactical foundations established in earlier Greek modules in relation to texts which are more challenging either linguistically or theologically; To develop competence in the exegesis of the Greek New Testament; to make a detailed exegetical and theological study of the Greek text of either selected portions of the New Testament or one New Testament document.
10.	Learning outcomes:	Knowledge On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. demonstrate knowledge and understanding of more advanced Greek grammar, syntax and vocabulary in the exegetical task (A1, A2) 2. show critical understanding of the issues involved in translating more advanced portions of New Testament Greek into good English (A1, A2) 3. translate with facility portions of the set texts and comment on significant aspects of (for example), word formation, verbal aspect, syntax word order and structure of the argument (A1, A2) 4. compose coherent and well-formed studies on the set texts which show a good awareness of the main conclusions and the supporting arguments of modern scholars on the main linguistic, text-critical, structural, historical and/or exegetical (A1, A2) Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 5. demonstrate intermediate level knowledge of Greek grammar and vocabulary, further skills in translating more complex selected Greek texts, and further skills in comparing English translations with the original Greek in a critical, empathetic, reflective and theologically astute manner (B1, B2) 6. advanced engagement with different scholarly methods and opinions, anticipate divergent problems, possibilities and consequences, apply their knowledge and understanding to their own lives and the lives of others, and thereby continue to grow and develop spiritually (B3, B4, B5)

	7. further skills in organising, communicating and applying their own learning effectively, using information and computer technology to access and divulge information, and engaging creatively in problem solving (B3, B4, B6, B7)
11.	Syllabus: Critical, exegetical and theological study of the Greek text of selected portions of the New Testament or one New Testament document, such as 1 Peter. The critical use of Greek exegetical and linguistic tools in the exegetical task, such as lexica, grammars, concordances, will be engaged.
12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.
13.	Assessment scheme:
	1. Formative assessment scheme Both onsite and distance learning students will receive ongoing formative feedback from tutors at appropriate points during the duration of the module.
	2. Summative assessment scheme

Demonstrate in-depth knowledge and understanding of key Old Testament texts related to ritual (A1, A2). 2. Understand and critically engage with the range of functions that rituals fulfil in the Old Testament (A1, A2). 3. Critically understand the circumstances in which ritual was dangerous and illicit (A1, A2). Skills On successful completion of this module, the student will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 4. Critically assess a variety of ancient and modern approaches to Biblical texts related to ritual (B1, B2); 5. Use Biblical texts to reflect critically, creatively, and responsibly on issues in the contemporary world (B1, B2, B3, B4).
11.	Syllabus:	This module will cover topics such as Israel's cultic life (e.g., Sabbath, Passover, priesthood, the Tabernacle, the Day of Atonement); covenant ceremonies; war; homicide; rituals performed at various stages in life (e.g., birth, marriage, death) and by various groups (men, women, and children). Additionally, it will explore a selection of rituals related to areas such as healthcare, food production/consumption, and education.

12.	Learning and teaching strategy: Students will be engaged in a variety of learning activities aimed at acquisition, investigation, discussion, practice, collaboration and production through multiple delivery formats. Students may choose to study this module either on-campus or in the distance (online) mode. Onsite education will occur in a cohort within a timetable and be based around interactive lectures, group discussions and guided readings, supported by materials on the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE). Distance education through the VLE is self-paced within a timetabled cohort, and based around online course materials, guided readings (including ebooks, articles and other materials), and online discussion forums where students interact with each other and the tutor. Both onsite and distance students will have opportunities for guided and independent study. All students will be expected to engage in independent library research and written production and supported in their learning by the tools and resources available on the VLE.
13.	Assessment scheme: 1. Formative assessment scheme Both onsite and distance learning students will receive ongoing formative feedback from tutors at appropriate points during the duration of the module.
